Which aid instruments have been used (direct subsidies, guarantees, etc.)?

Direct subsidies.

Typical compensation mechanism as regards the respective services and whether a methodology based on cost allocation or the net avoided cost methodology is used.

The funding regime for HIAL is designed with the aim of ensuring that the costs of HIAL's operations are met over the course of a financial year. HIAL does not make a profit. Subsidy is only provided to meet the difference between HIAL's income and its costs with the aim that the company breaks even in any given year.

Typical arrangements for avoiding and repaying any overcompensation.

HIAL is non-profit making and is provided with subsidy to ensure that it breaks even within a given period. For each financial year HIAL is allocated a budget of 'up to' an amount based upon a projection of their net requirement to achieve a Member State (for example because the competence lies with regional or local authorities), individual details of the entrustments would be disproportionate, but a clear and concise general description of the way the sector is organised including the common features of the individual entrustments remains crucial.

breakeven position i.e. taking account of costs and commercial revenue. HIAL is only provided with subsidy where there is a demonstrable need for it in order to achieve a breakeven position. HIAL is required to provide monthly financial returns which show revenue and expenditure to date and forecast their outturn for the financial year. Subsidy payments are made monthly based upon these returns to cover actual net costs incurred and achieve a breakeven position. This process enables regular assessment of revenue and costs and identifies potential under or over spends for the financial year. These under/over spends can then be addressed through either reducing the overall subsidy provision or through HIAL managing costs downwards (e.g. through delaying maintenance work) to ensure that a breakeven position is achieved.

This process achieves a breakeven position within a financial year and is designed to ensure that overcompensation is avoided. Should overcompensation be identified, however, then HIAL would be required to repay such overcompensation immediately. Due to HIAL's legal status, the Scottish Government / Transport Scotland are not permitted to accrue funds from one financial year to the next in relation to HIAL's activities. All financial transactions between HIAL and the Scottish Government / Transport Scotland must be completed and accounted for within the relevant financial year.

A short explanation of how the transparency requirements (see Article 7 of the 2012 SGEI Decision) for the aid above 15 million euro to undertakings that also have activities outside the scope of the SGEI are being complied with. In your answer please also include some relevant examples of information published for this purpose (e.g. some links to websites or other references), indicate whether you have a central website on which you publish this information for all aid measures concerned in your Member State (and if so provide the link to this website), or alternatively explain if and how the publication takes place at the level granting the aid (e.g. central, regional or local level).

As set out in the Framework Document, HIAL is required to consult with airport users through an annual customer survey. The results of these surveys will be published on the HIAL web site.

HIAL's Annual Report and Accounts are published on the HIAL web site at:

<http://www.hial.co.uk/hial-group/about-us/annual-report-board-minutes/>

The HIAL Board meets around every six weeks and meetings take place at the airports within the HIAL network. Board meetings are usually accompanied by Board dinners where local stakeholders are invited to attend. This enables local stakeholders to put their views on their local airport directly to the Board.

To aid transparency, HIAL is required to publish the agenda and minutes for Board meetings. These can be viewed on the HIAL web site at:

<http://www.hial.co.uk/hial-group/about-us/annual-report-board-minutes/>
